to me

Good evening!

I am emailing to let you know about the exciting, momentous exhibition, "Capturing Women's History: Quilts, Activism, and Storytelling," that the University of Louisville Hite Art Institute is presenting February 1-March 19, with the opening reception Friday, February 12.

The exhibition includes over 500 quilts that honor women's achievements. Originally organized by Judy Chicago in the 1980s as a companion to her significant work, The Dinner Party, this is the first solo exhibition of the quilts and their stories.

We would be grateful if you'd spread the word to everyone you think may be interested.

Following are links to the department's website that provide more details about the exhibition, as well as background on the International Honor Quilt project itself.

Truly, this event will be history in the making! If a trip to see the exhibition isn't feasible, we invite you to check out the on-line database (<http://uofl.me/intl-honor-quilt>) and our Facebook page (<https://www.facebook.com/International-Honor-Quilt-1520152938284117/>).

If you have any questions, feel free to contact Maggie Leininger, the IHQ Project Director (margaret.leininger@louisville.edu) or me, Amy Fordham (see contact information below).

With appreciation,
Amy
